Roosevelt Revises Manpower Policies

WASHINGTON (AP) - Presi dent Roosevelt this afternoon suspended voluntary enlistments in the U.S. army and navy, transferred selective service to the War Manpower Commission and authorized priorities over civilian employment.

Under an executive order, the President forbade the armed service accepting voluntary enlistments of men in the 18 to 38 group, forcing the services to take all future men through the selective service system. The order is effective immediately.

He told them the struggle was appoaching its tensest phase, but that no smooth road lies ahead and that "the hard core of Nazi resistance and villainy has not vet been broken in upon."

"We have to gather up all our strength and if, by any chance, unexpected good tidings come to us, that will be a matter which we can rejoice at but which we must not count upon," he said.

OUTCOME NOT IN DOUBT

Mr. Churchill said he is con fident of the ultimate outcome in north Africa, but wanted Britons not to be misguided about the difficulties confronting the Allies there. He told the cheering "We have broken into north

Nazi Attacks On Ring Around Bizerte Fail By LEWIS HAWKINS

LONDON (AP) - Liberators, triking in support of embattled Allied forces in Tunisia, loosed a destructive daylight assault on Naples Friday and were reported to have hit a battleship and two cruisers with a deluge of bombs which Rome admitted had left heavy damage and casualties in that main Axis supply port for north Africa. (See Map Page 4.)

The four-motored B-24 Liberators, which can carry up to 10tons of explosives, flew across the Mediterranean past the powerful Axis air fleet based on Sicily to carry out their attack at Duskthe first American attack of the war on Italy proper-and every one returned home safely.

The Italians said casualties inflicted included 159 dead and 358 wounded.

Meanwhile, Allied headquarters in north Africa today announced German infantry, supported by tank columns, had failed to crack the Allied ring around Bizerte in a third furious assault on the British-United States lines from Teboura to Mateur.

A communique from Allied headquarters, however, said "some enemy mechanized and in-fantry units have entered the town of Tebourba."

Heavy fighting is continuing in the area, it said, with Allied forces regrouped on heights dominating the town.

Flying Fortresses, operating as if on a railroad schedule, bombed Bizerte again Friday and shot to intercept.

Counterattacks Cost Nazis Many Tanks

Incessant counterattacks since Dec. 1 have cost the Germans 33 tanks and, while they have been unable to break the Allied hold on vital roads and communications, they have succeeded in reoccupying Djedeida, 12 miles northwest of Tunis, the headquarters spokesman said.

U.S. Middle East Headquarters in Cairo announced the raid on Naples a few hours after it was been cancefed.

Premier Mackenzie King made a very fine speech to the Pilgrims of America, New York, Dec. 2 predicting a "new world order" will follow the war. He affirmed "The Brotherhood of Man." Possibly our good friend, Edward Bellamy ("Bellamy's Looking Backward"), now in another di-mension, may have heard the speech with great delight.

Recently Colonel Drew, Conservative, said there was plenty of vacant land (with plenty of big tree stumps?) on which to put the unemployed. His idea apparently is to turn all the returned soldiers out to grass after the war.

Keeping A Promise

NAPLES SUSTAINED A HEAVY DAYlight attack yesterday from Allied bombers based on the southern shores of the Mediterranean. It was a daring application of the threat and promise which Mr. Churchill addressed to the Italian people last Sunday. The machines assigned to the task defied the powerful Axis air fleet which uses the strategic island of Sicily to harass the operations of the United Nations in Tunisia and Liyba. Even the communique issued from Rome admits the attack was "violent" and caused heavy damage-accounting for 159 fatalities and injuries to 358 among the civilian population. London's report, however, adds that a battleship and two cruisers were hit and scarred, Cairo's announcement including the further statement that big bombs burst in railway yards, disrupting traffic, while general demolition along the port's important waterfront may seriously interfere with the dispatch of Axis vessels supplying the enemy in Africa,

Naples takes second place to Genoa in the list of Italian ports, the latter already reported to be so badly shattered that its usefulness as a supply base for Axis operations in the Mediterranean has ended for the time being. Neopolitans for long have dreaded this expansion of Allied aerial operations, not only because their city, with rellent target at any time, but also because Europe. Nor. do they require to be told at this late stage of the conflict that Goering's much vaunted Luftwaffe is too busy trying to hold back the Russians, the Anglo-American forces in Africa, and the United Nations' air forces which are paying growing attention to Nazi-dominated Europe to undertake reprisals at The Newsprint Situation is not to say that the cities of Britain will MEASURES ARE BEING CAREFULLY not be called upon to gather up more debris before the winter is out. The people of Italy, however, and the editor of the Giornale d'Italia, know that Hitler's time, as well as Mussolini's, is fast running out.

And where are Il Duce's 8,000,000 bayonets about which he boasted not so long ago? Mr. Churchill told 40,000,000 Italians last Sunday that more than 100 Fascist generals ployment in industries considered more and nearly 300,000 of Mussolini's legions already are cooling their heels in British prison camps until the "appropriate time" arrives to let them out. Canaris works in a small, unimpressive office, with a bed beside his desk; and, acice during the first Great War, and fought at Jutland. Eventually he joined the Naval Intelligence and was subsequently transferred to a department attached to the War Office, where he became head of all Germany's secret services, both political and military. Another interesting point revealed about him, incidentally, is that although he is not superior to Gestapo chief Heinrich Himmler, he is believed to exert considerably more pressure by a less crude tech-

The army and navy are reported to be solidly behind the admiral, which supports the contention that the heads of the secret police detest him. And to undermine his influence, so the story goes, Himmler's men are trying to impress the public with the idea that the new disappointments in Russia must be laid at the doors of the German Military Intelligence. But in this unpredictable of all wars nothing should be lightly excluded. It would naturally suit the schemes of the Gestapo to imply that Canaris is be bind some form of active revolt-perhaps with the object of preparing for eventual ities if Russia's offensives should develop into a rout of the Wehrmacht. DOWN TO A BOTTLE A DAY MY GOOD FRIEND, Mrs. Noggins, came over today with a present of a dozen eggs and gave them to us as casually as if were not more precious these days than diamonds. "But," she said, "you'd 'ad cording to a group of international re-searchers in London, he was on active serv-gettin' scarce. Why, only the other day the gettin' scarce. Why, only the other day the gover'mint at Victoria put on a liquor ration of a bottle of whisky a day for each person. 'Tis the 'ardships and 'orrors of war.

"Mindju, most people can five on a bottle a day if they 'ave to: Even Uncle Erbert ardly drunk more and 'e was considered a fairly 'eavy drinker and uster get fits of pink elephants pretty reg'lar. With a bottle a day it shouldn't be 'ard to see pink elephants in British Columbia whenever you want to. Anyways, the gover'mint must get noney somewheres and I suppose we must all try to do our juty by buyin' our full ration. I must say I 'ardly feel up to it.

"But there must be fellas who carry all this load alone. There must be fellas who buy a bottle a day, or otherwise wot's the sense of the ration? The gover'mint says it is cuttin' down drinkin', so it must be some fellas 'as been drinkin' far more than a bottle a day. Patriotism can go no further. Same as Nelson said before Trafalgar, British Columbia expects that every man this day will do his juty, bottleful of it.

HORRIBLE THOUGHT

"Meself, I 'ope the gover'mint won't take over any more industries. They took over liquor and now we're expected to drink it whether we want to or not, to maintain the revenues. When the gover'mint is into the milk business I suppose we'll 'ave to drink two quarts of milk a day. And when NO INTELLIGENT CANADIAN WITH they get into the vegetable industry we'll be an understanding of the implications of forced to eat turnips for breakfast, I dare Socialism. "All this costs money, as Uncle 'Erbert uster say when 'e was runnin' for alderman in Liverpool. And when they started to look into the books and found some of the city's money was short, 'Erbert said 'e didn't mean no 'arm and thort it was only polytics. Like I told you, they put 'im in jail because the courts don't understand polytics and 'owuch it costs to keep democracy alive among the people.

"The people is always complainin' about the polyticians' campaign funds, but the people never put up any money themselves. You'd think that a man who believed enough in a party to vote for it would be willin' to put up a dollar a year, or even 50 cents, to pay for its costs... That would give the polyticians all the money they needed. But no, if the polyticians 'ad to depend on the people, who give it ain't givin' it for their 'ealth either. They're businessmen and expect interest on all investments.

"So the only way out of it is to let the Legislature vote money every year to pay for party expenses and then put anybody in jail who spends any other money. The people pay for campaign funds anyways in the end, and pay through the nose. save money by payin' it direct and honest and above-board. NAVAL TRADITION

From Richmond Times Dispatch Skoal to the USS. cruiser Boise, whose amazing performance off the Solomons last month, in sinking several Japanese warships, some of them heavier than she is, does not suffer by comparison with the valorous audacity of the San Francisco in the more recent battle fought in the same general area of the Pacific. Both ships performed astoundingly, and upheld the highest traditions of the American Navy.

The Boise not only tackled a much superior Japanese force, thereby drawing the fire of guns larger than any mounted by her, but she survived several direct hits by large-calibre naval rifles, although she was wrapped in flames and given up for lost by other American vessels in the same task force. Captain Moran and his crew cannot be too highly praised.

The captain of the Boise beongs beside Richard Wainwright, afterward Superintendent Wain-wright, of the United States Na-val Academy, whose doughty deeds at the battle of Santaiago Bay in 1898 were described as "one of the most intrepid and brilliant heroisms in all naval history." Wainwright commanded the small vessel Gloucester, which lunged headlong into two Spanish destroyers, the Furor and the Pluton, both of which were larger than the Gloucester. The Gloucester sank one of the Spanish ships and beached the other, killing or wounding two-thirds of their officers and men. The Gloucester then rescued 200 surflagship, Infanta Maria Teresa, including Admiral Cervera, Then she rescued part of the crew of

How to Make a Splendid Cough Syrup at Home

A Big Saving, and It's So Easy! No Cooking!

Cough medicines usually contain a large quantity of plain ayrup—a good argredient, but one which you can easily make in your own kitchen. Take Z cups of granulated sugar and 1 cup of water, and stir a few moments until dissolved. No cooking! No trouble! Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.

Then get from your druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a 16 sunce bottle, and add your syrup. This gives you 16 ounces of really splendid medicine for bad winter coughs, It doesn't please you in every way.

Bits and Pieces By N. H.

Overheard on a Victoria bus the other day—First lady: "Oh dear, I've been so busy I haven't had time to look at the paper even-Is there anything new?"

Second lady: "Yes; the French have scuttled their fleet." F.L.: "Oh, of course, this is Navy Week, isn't it?"

Coming events are said to cast their shadows before, and the es-tablishment by Wartime Prices and Trade Board (consumer branch) of a housing registry here suggests that unless householders willingly open up their unused rooms, a system of billeting might have to be introduced to overcome the housing crisis. After all, other necessities have had to be rationed to ensure their going around, so it cannot be con-sidered beyond the bounds of possibility that such might happen here. With winter upon us and the dimout in force, it is more than ever imperative that young girls, as well as the families of men in the forces and in war in-dustries, should have decent places in which to live. The com-mittee in charge of the new housing registry is confident, how-ever, that Victoria householders who have any surplus room in their home will make it available to these young people. Such a gesture would be just as much a piece of war work as the making of munitions, and just as essen-

All the talk that has transpired since the rationing of tea and coffee in Canada, and now of liquor in British Columbia, gains piquancy for me since reading a quaint little book which was put lished in New York in the year 1819. Its preamble reads thus: "Be it remembered: That on the enth day of March in the forty third year of the Independence of the United States of America, A.D. 1819, Jesse Torrey, Jun., of the Northern District of New Virtue and Happiness; in Five Parts'. Cut in Food Costs Pleases Women

"While I rejoice at the reduc-tion in the cost of four essential items of food, I am most overjoyed to see that another deter-rent has been launched against inflation," said Mrs. Paul Smith in commenting today on Finance Minister Ilsley's announcement concerning the recent cut in living costs.

Mrs. Smith, who is chairman of the women's regional advisory committee of the Wartime Prices Board, consumers' branch, re-called that 18 months ago the spectre of inflation evidenced it-self in the rise of 7.47 per cent in the cost of living over a period of six months. Measures were taken to freeze prices and wages, and as a result in the last 12 months living costs had risen only 2.8 per cent in Canada, as compared to 8 per cent in the same period in the United States. At a comparable period in the last war, costs of living in Canada rose 20 per cent, she noted.

To date the greatest increase had occurred in the cost of food, Mrs. Smith continued, but other Items had been stabilized or lowered to offset this, hence the low overall figure of 2.8 per cent had been attained. But signs of inflation were again appearing, and to stop the tide it had been neces-

Mrs. A. E. Hopkins, president of the Local Council of Women, said Friday that she with the other members of the council executive welcomed the news concerning the cuts in the cost of tea, milk, coffee and oranges, particularly oranges, as these were so essential a factor in the diet of young children.

Postwar Debt and Finance

By MAJOR A. H. JUKES, D.S.O., O.B.E.

THERE IS BEFORE me as I write a framed copy of a men and women, purchased nothing better conveying the thanks of the Canadian Government to me for services rendered in the last world scarred by slums and dis-Great War. That letter I prize

It is signed "Arthur Meighen, Prime Minister of Canada," and is dated March 24, 1921. And now, world where, side by side with nearly 22 years later, I turn to want, there was waste of the inask of Mr. Meighen a service, addressing this to him:

"After three years of war, with the faint glimmer of victory in sight, every prospect but one growing burden of debt with the gloomy forebodings of those who administer it. There is nothing apart from war's casualties which weighs so heavily on the hearts What of the future they How much longer can we much longer, stand the strain of increasing taxation and the bureaucratic methods which accompany it? How can we provide for our future?

"These questions grow in intensity as the months pass, yet remain unanswered. They cannot long remain unanswered. They mock us. They challenge us. They have so far defied us. They beckon a statesman-one clear in intellect and resolute of purpose

The opportunity is yours, Mr. Meighen. Will you seize it? The whole of Canada looks expectantly to its one time Prime Min ister to see if he will assume that responsibility and answer their demands-not after the manner of vague political promises with which the world is now so skeptical, but in terms of pledge and personal guarantee, confirmed in immediate proposals to initiate at once such changes in policy as help them rearm for todaywill progressively ease the bur den of the people.

"Read again the prophetic warning of your contemporary Prime Minister of Great Britain ntained in his great manifesto to the nation in September, 1919. The fact that he was greeted by three feet of water didn't bother That is the word received from Chuck Jones, Vancouver, who acts as agent for the Globe Trotters in the Pacific North-Bowden one little bit. After his cold ducking he strolled up the front door and informed host Gregory he would be a little late Naturally the Trotters will be forced to play a much-reduced schedule over former seasons. Any other year the colored stars got over the country in their own bus and could schedule games at many little wayside towns. Often the club would play two games in one day. Now their playing dates will be confined to the larger centres. Providing sultable arrangements can be made the Trotters will make their annual appearance in this city.

Which brings to mind that of the last five or six seasons, uncovered some truly great negro cage performers. The visit of the Trotters to this city has al-ways resulted in the hoop treat of the season. Fans have always been assured of a great show and a scintillating exhibition. Looking back over previous stands of Trotters we recollect such great players as Inman Jackson, red Strong, Sonny Boswell, Bernie Price et al. Other touring teams hit the decline in recent seasons but not the Trotters. They had the reputation of being the finest touring club on the road and they never let down.

DEAR

Lucien Roy, 38, whom everybody knew and liked as Associ-ated Screen News photographer, was killed off the west coast when two R.C.A.F. planes collided in midair. He leaves a wife and four children in Vancouver. Also killed were PO. R. W. Rogers of Port Arthur and Flt. Lt. M. W. Hees of New York. They gave Lucien a full-dress requiem in St. Augustine's Church, Van-couver. Navy, army and air force sent honorary pallbearers, and the active pallbearers were men who had been with him on the news firing line. . . . Drinkers in B.C. are now cut down to one quart bottle of whisky a day under new wartime liquor restrictions. Wine drinkers will be a lowed only a gallon a day, beer parlors will open at 11 instead of 10.30, close at 11 instead of 11.30 p.m. Parlors and clubs must close for a drinking break from 6.30 to 7.30 p.m. Clubs will close

Sgt.H.A.LarsenBackWith Family After Arctic Trip

Greeted at the boat by joyful cries of "Daddy" from his chil-dren, Doreen seven and Gordon our and a half, S. Sgt. Henry R.C.M.P. patrol ship St. Roch on her two-and-a-half-year trip through the Arctic Northwest Passage, returned Friday after-noon to his Victoria home.

As he stepped ashore with his wife, who met him in Vancouver, the explorer said: "It's good to be back home."

Little Gordon was just a baby when his father left Victoria June 10, 1940, on the epic voyage which was to take him and his comons across the roof of the world.

Larsen disclosed that but for a lucky break in August after leav ing Pasley Bay, where the expedition had been frozen in for 11 months, when a north wind split the ice, enabling the ship to work its way through Franklin Strait, they would have had to spend another winter in the Arctic.

When Larsen set out on his adventurous voyage he expected to complete it within a year.

Larsen said he and his crew spent the first winter at Walker Bay after sailing from Victoria. They touched Demarcation Point Point Brabrant on Baillie Island Coppermine, Cambridge Bay and retraced their course from Point Brabrant in Queen Maud Gulf to Walker Bay after they had been hemmed in for weeks by

Rescue Party Looked in Vain for Lost Settlers

MORE THAN three and a half centuries ago an English sea captain made a voyage to the New World. One of the young men who went with him was 26year-old Walter Raleigh, later to come famous in history as "Sir Walter Raleigh." As a result of the voyage, Raleigh became deeply interested in lands on the western side of the Atlantic. In a later year he sent two vessels to explore the North American coast and find the best place for a settlement. The sailors landed on an island near the state we now call North Carolina. was a good-sized island, 20 miles in length, and the explorers

B.C.'s Douglas Lake Ranch, Biggest In Canada, Feeds Our Armies

Hiere's one of the great ranches of Western Canada which help supply the men of Canada's fighting forces with more than 21,000 tons of beef a year. It is the ranch of the Douglas Lake Cattle Company, with an area of 500,000 acres in central British Sage of the ranch Edwin Godley has been with it since 1890.

You're now looking at real cowboys who have neither the time nor the desire to yodel. Instead they repair equipment and turn in early.

Joe Coutlee, range boss at the Douglas Lake ranch, rolls Himself a cigarette while his men rest a herd. When an order comes in, cattle are "cut out" from herd of 10,000.

Out on the range the working day is seldom over until darkness arrives. Then the cowhands gather around the chuck-wagon and set up a camp for the night. They are shown here cooking their supper over the blaze of their small fire.

Here's able ranch foreman Findlay Anderson, on six months' extension from army call-up when this photo was taken. Note prize ribbons won by his stock.

"Praise the cow punchers and pass the beef!" say the men off the world's best fed army as they sit at the mess table in one of Canada's many training camps.

From the rangelands of the Canadian West to the army kitchens goes the beef in a never-ending stream. Receiving their equal share of good food are the navy and the air force. Although they are famed for their lusty appetites, Canadian fighting men never have to the table hungry. No small portion of the credit should go to the men on the range, who do their share to keep our soldiers healthy.

Rigid Test for Aircrew Recruits

To determine whether a Royal Canadian Air Force recruit is physically able to serve with an aircrew, he passes a test in this air-pressure chamber. The operators outside can decrease the pressure inside the cylindrical chamber to reproduce conditions which occur at altitudes up to 15,000 feet or more. The recruit on the inside does not put on an oxygen mask until instructed to do so by telephone from the outside. After the pressure has been lowered and before he dons the mask the operator instructs him to write his name or pick up a glass of water. He finds he has lost control of these simple actions. Wearing the mask, he finds his faculties restored. The chamber shown above is at the medical investigation centre, Initial Training School, R.C.A.F., Toronto.

By LESTER F. MILES, Ph.D. Consulting Psychologist

SAM AND IRMA JOHNSON were free for the evening and happy about it. He to do his trick with the "plane spotters"—Irma entering her advanced class in first aid.

Like many young suburbanites, the Johnsons had both worked a few years until they accumulated enough money to buy a little home and could begin to think about a family. Not having any relatives living nearby they had been pretty much tied down by the baby, but now all that was settled.

"It's like finding money!" Irma Johnson exclaimed to her neighbor student. "Imagine, only 50 cents for the entire evening. Anyone else would charge us from 25 to 50 cents an hour interrupted. An examination soon showed that there was nothing wrong physically.

The case was recommended to my office and a subsequent investigation proved the new maid of a few weeks the direct cause of the little fellow's difficulties.

She had too little patience to wait for the child to follow his usual elimination routine. If the child wasn't prompt when she afforded him the opportunity, she would spank him and talk to him crossly. The result was a complete mental confusion in the child-something he couldn't even explain to his mother-and followed by an upset in his health and requiring slow and patient retraining in his habits. The maid didn't mean to cause the child any harm. She just didn't know any better.

BUT NOT SO with another family where a servant knowingly followed harmful practices, Many times, when Bobby G. was to be put to bed for the night, he would ask for a glass water The maid thought it we do any harm to give the boy a little whisky in the water. He was a pre-coclous youngster and this practice did seem to get results—quiet him down and get him to sleep quietly.

This went on for some time, and the boy saw the maid pour something from a bottle into his water very frequently. One afternoon, Mrs. G. was giving a luncheon and the maid was preparing cocktails for the guests. The child watched her pour from the same bottle with which he was by now quite familiar.

At a moment when the maid's attention was diverted to another part of the house, he climbed up on a stool and drank what was very nearly the equivalent of a dozen strong cocktails. Only prompt and efficient medical attention saved this boy's life. He might have died if the maid hadn't had sense enough to go immediately to his mother and report her suspicions. But

Here's the London of Tomorrow, As Royal Academy Architects Plan to Rebuild City

Plans to make London, already one of the most majestic, also one of the most beautiful cities in the world, are being laid by a planning committee of the Royal Academy under the chairmanship of Sir Edward Lutyens, Leading representatives of architecture, planning, finance and traffic are included on the committee. Left, St. Paul's cathedral would appear like this from the west, with an open space around the great building. London's Strand is shown, right, as it will appear if the Royal Academy plan for reconstructing bomb-scarred London is carried out. The committee maintains that, although the plans are "idealistic," nevertheless they are practical.

Toulon Harbor: Where French Scuttled Their Fleet-and Hitler

Adolf Hitler's hopes of plucking off the great French battle fleet at Toulon were literally sunk when 63 ships were blown up and scuttled by their own crews to prevent their falling into the hands of the Nazis. Part of the fleet was anchored in this section of Toulon harbor, France's greatest seaport.
